

Craps

Craps is a game of chance and is played on a large sunken table with a pair of dice that are thrown by the Shooter.

The objective is to bet whether the Shooter will roll a winning combination. On the first roll of the dice (the come-out phase), the shooter wins by rolling either a 7 or 11. Rolling craps (2, 3, or 12) loses. Any other number (4, 5, 6, 8, 9, or 10) is called the point and brings the game into the point phase. To win, the point number must be rolled again before a 7 is rolled. Winning here is also known as passing. If a 7 is rolled before the point number, the shooter has sevens-out and loses.

When the game starts, there are two main bets: Pass and Don't Pass. There are, however, several other side bets that you can take:

Bet Type	Description of Bet
Pass Line bet	This is a bet that the Shooter will roll a 7 or 11 on the come-out roll, or establish a Point by rolling 4, 5, 6, 8, 9, or 10.
